NEW COLLEGE, SARASOTA, FLORIDA
FURMAN C. ARTHUR — INFORMATION

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

Two New College students have been invited to participate in an art show of undergraduate work at the University of South Florida which begins March 19.

Eric Hazaelhoff of Grenoble, France and David Rollow of Denton, Texas will enter paintings which they have done while studying at the Fine Arts Institute of New College.

Eighty-eight colleges and universities have students invited to enter work in the show. Entrants were selected on an invitational basis and each student may enter one painting.

Hazaelhoff and Rollow, while attending the undergraduate classes at New College, also have been studying at the Fine Arts Institute which is primarily for non-matriculating students. Both have worked with Syd Solomon, Balcomb Green, and James Brooks, all members of the institute faculty. They will continue their work with Conrad Marca-Relli beginning March 22.

Paintings submitted by the students will be evaluated by a panel of judges with a $100 prize being awarded for the best painting exhibited.
