FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

New College has received a grant of $5,000 from the Federal government to be used for the strengthening of its library, President John Elmen-dorf announced today.

The grant is the maximum amount that any institution can receive this year under the new College Library Resources Program, President Elmen-dorf said. New College is using the money to pay for new books and other materials for its rapidly growing library.

The New College collection currently numbers about 30,000 bound volumes, all of which are housed on the second floor of College Hall, the former Charles Ringling residence. During the coming year the library will begin to expand into the first floor of College Hall.
